What other summer program has evidenced-based research confirming a “strong treatment effect” & 5 licensed mental health professionals leading the program?

In 2009 and in 2014, research studies found Quest to improve emotional and social abilities, increase self-esteem and reduced problems.

For over 25 years, Quest Camps have provided innovative treatment programs for children aged 6-19 years old.

Thousands of children have made dramatic improvements in behavioral, emotional and social functioning because of Quest’s unique system that combines recreational activities, behavioral milieu and group therapy.

Highly qualified, licensed therapists trained in specific techniques that make Quest effective direct all treatment. Large portion of staff have graduate training.
